

SIEBENQUELL

The Exercise of Being On Call into the night

I set my silence

open my senses

open my heart

am blank, similar to a start, which tells of ancient times hearken

incline the ear of my heart to the first treasury of word seek and seek and find by and by, whisperings of peace awaken in a new morning arise and tell of first steps unto life

Be silent and listen, incline the ear of your heart, seek peace.

Sylvia Ditt

Vallendar, April 23rd, 2020